Headline:
Cold and bright. Rain and snow tonight.

Today:
A bright and cold day with some sunny spells, although patchy mist and freezing fog patches possible. Ice will affect untreated surfaces and winds will be light. Maximum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Tonight:
Rain and snow will push in from the northwest later this evening and overnight. Much of this will be light, but lying snow for some and an increasing ice risk. Minimum temperature -3 deg C (27 deg F).

Thursday:
Bright and cold with wintry showers, these turning to snow at most levels by the end of the day. The northerly winds will be fresh to strong at times. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Scattered snow showers on Friday, otherwise bright and cold. Patchy light rain pushing in from the west on Saturday. Breezy and milder by Sunday, brightest in the east.
